The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Fread. Fread shows all the structure of the device as recited by the claims.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 2,6-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fread in view of Elliot. Fread shows all the structures of the device as recited by the claims except the flange portion and the type of material. It would have been obvious make the container of Fread out of any shape and well known material and to provide the top portion of the container of Fread with flange as taught by Elliot in order to enhance strength of the container at the weak top portion.

Claims 3-5 are objected to as depending on a rejected claim. However, they would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Any inquiry concerning this office action will be directed to Examiner Joseph Moy, (703) 308-1145.
